LONDON. Eng.-The Rev. Frank Pesant, who was the husband of Mrs ligious, philosophical and scientifi subjects, died recently in the villag of Sibsey in Lincoinshire where, for 45 years, he was vicar of the village church. The vicar was 76 years of and his famous wife is nearly 70.

The Rev. and Mrs. Besant attracted world-wide attention many years and when they separated and engaged in long controversy over the custody their only child. They were married in 1867. In 1873 a judicial separation was arranged by the terms of which Mrs. Besant was to have the custody of her daughter, Mabel. Mrs. Besant pursued a varied, world-wide career, faghting in law courts, addressing huge audiences, leading strikes and delying governments. She subsequently met Charles Bradlaugh and took an active part in his propagands.

This led the Rev. Frank Besant to begin proceedings in 1878 for the custody of his daughter, on the ground that her mother's opinions would be Thursday, Sacurday and Sunday, of the child in society, to say nothing of her eternal prospects."

Mrs. Besant appeared in person and argued her case with ability but the Salvation Army Hall. 816 Nuuanu child was given into the custody of the father. When Miss Mabel Besant was 21 years old she at once returned to her mother, who had by that time become a socialist and then a theoso-
